CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION

A. The Background of the Problem

There are a lot of language in the world, which are used as a means of communication. One of languages used by most people in the world is English. That is why English becomes international language. As a part of the worlds' activities such as sport events, conferences, words' trades, and etc use English if we do not want to the left behind.

In many countries, including our country, teaching English as a foreign language in educational world is gaining popularity. English has been taught at public schools and private schools, from the lowest to the highest level (from play groups, kindergartens, elementary schools, junior high schools, senior high schools, universities and courses). Of course in level, it must be different. As it is stated by harmer (2010:37) the age of students are a each major factor in our decision about how and what to teach because people of different ages have different needs, competence, and cognitive skill. The ages are young learner, adolescents or teenagers and adults.

to master the four skills those are listening, reading, speaking, and writing. The objective of teaching of English, which is stated in the newest local curriculum SI of elementary school until senior high school. That the students are expected,It means that the students have to acquire them in the process of learning. They need to develop reading and writing skill to improve written communication as well as listening and speaking to improve oral communication. The learners and the teacher still have done in process of teaching and learning especially in speaking. This skill is more complicated than others.

Being able to speak well and fluently is the key of successful interaction. By speaking well, the listener would understand the message we as talking. It is supported by Halley and Austin (2004: 191) that being able to communicate orally in another language means that we have opportunities to express our ideas and support for making our intentions clearer. So an English teacher has a task to motivate the students to participate actively in their speaking class activity and to practice their speaking ability very often. It is important for the students in order be accustomed to speaking English. And of course, it would be more useful if they make it as habit.

Learning to speak is not easy especially for the learners. The teacher always finds that the students or the learners are often reluctant because they are shy and difficult to express themselves in front of other people, especially when they are being asked to give personal information or opinions. Besides they are rarely given a chance to practice their speaking. Because of less in practicing to speak English or even never, students are finally afraid of speaking. They are afraid of making mistakes, especially in grammar and pronunciation. In this case, the teacher must give motivation to them as what harmer state (2001: 51). He states that motivation is accepted for most fields of learning motivation is essential to success. Without such motivation we will almost certainly fail to make the necessary effort. To make the students have motivation in speaking, the teacher should be able to facilitate and encourage the students in order to speak English as much as possible. Therefore the teacher needs to create an atmosphere where the students will feel free to use language they learning, so the learners will not get bored in learning English.

To overcome this problem, the use of communicative approach is the interesting . The communicative approach in this part is explaining a process or telling how to do something. How to make something or how something works. It's also supported by brown who say that even though students themselves may not directly manipulate items shown in demonstration, they may become involved with the subject because they are looking a specific things which hold their attention. In this case c is implemented to teach communicative approach speaking procedure text because it has the same characteristics with the procedure text.

The students having to bring the thing which deal with the topic, than explain and demonstrate how the thing works or how to do it. They must explain it step by step and carefully. Besides they have to think and pay attention with their word, while they are speaking. It's to avoid the confusedness of the listeners. By using demonstration, it is hoped that the students will more skilful, more competence, and more knowledgeable in
