CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

A. Background of The Problem

Look at the science and technology, language has an important rule for human life, by using language the people will express their ideas, emotion, and desires, and it is used as a medium to interact with one another, to fulfill their daily need. English as the most important language in international communication. The people all over the world speak the language when they meet one another in every international meeting, workshop or conference. All countries in the world have set the language as one the compulsory subject studied at school.

English has many functions, one of them as stated in the 2004 curriculum that English is means for the students to develop science, technology, culture and art, and the final objective of teaching and learning process is the students are expected to master the four skills of language; listening, speaking, reading and writing. Teaching and learning will be success if they are supported by some factors such as the method that is used in teaching English, competence of teaching facilitation, interesting media, and condition of school environment.

According to Finnochiorao, (1993: 82) Language is system of arbitrary, vocal symbol which permits all people in given culture or other people who have learnt the system of that culture, to communicate or interact

The definition shows that language is formed by the composition of sound arbitrary, vocal symbol used to express something in communication among people in their society. This existence of language amid society touch many human interaction forms the certain culture and social institution.

In Indonesia, English is one of foreign language that should be kindergarten until university. According to Alison Wray (1998: 64-65) language are skills are normally defined as the skill of listening, speaking, reading and writing. Some formal classroom activity will encourage the learner to focus on integrating the skill within a communication activity. In the classroom activity, the teacher has to focus on speaking activity. The teacher will know how far the students' ability in speaking skill.

Speaking is included in productive aspect as communicative competence, in which means that there is a process to conceptualize data happen in a brain the produce it is an orally information. Its form and meaning are dependent on the context, participants' experience, physical, environment, and the purposes of speaking.

Like three other categories of language performances; listening, reading and writing, speaking is viewed as the significant one. Speaking is a sort of productive skill which is used in oral model. It means that through speaking people produce words, expressions, or utterance to express our ideas, feelings as well as to respond towards particular situations.

Speaking is a way to expressing ourselves in whatever language that we use. The most motivating language to learn therefore enables us to talk in a way that is true our personality. As described by Hendarsyah (2003: 7) speaking is defined as a tool for conveying message almost directly to figure out whether or not, it is understood by the listener and whether or not the material are comprehended by both the speaker and listener. Speaking is important for them to practice their capability and their understanding, how to send idea, how to spell word well. In this case the students' motivation and interest are much needed to make the process of their understanding more easily.

O'Malley and Pierce (1996: 57) say that speaking seems to be an important skill that a learner should acquire. It is very important in order to enable students to communicate effectively through oral language because the disability of the students to speak may lead them to be unable to express their ideas even in a simple form of conversation.

In addition, Burn and Joyce (1997: 54-55) state that one of the aims of most language programs is to develop spoken language skills and most programs aim to integrate both spoken and written language. Learning a language means using it in communication in oral or written form, and being able to express feeling, thoughts, and experiences in various contexts. Lado (1964: 51) states that to know the language is to use it. He further states that students do not know a sentence until he can speak it.

In fact, the English instruction in some Junior High Schools does not demonstrate a satisfactory result. Many students fail to reach the goal of the English teaching. They are not able to communicate with the language either orally or in written form although they have learned English for many years (Lestari, 2000: 27). Many of the learners in a speaking class are reluctant speakers. This reluctance is partly due to their prior learning experience. Many of them were educated in a large class in schools situated in noisy neighborhoods where opportunities to speak are severely limited. Others were taught in schools where speaking was simply not encouraged.

Based on the preliminary study conducted at MTs Daru'l Hikam Cirebon, on May 3th to July 3th 2013, the researcher found out some problems related to the instructional activities in this school. Those problems are that: 1) the students have low speaking ability; 2) the students have low motivation in learning English; and 3) the teacher still uses monotonous and inappropriate teaching strategies.

Considering the problems faced by the teacher above, it can be said that the English teacher of MTs Daru'l Hikam Cirebon still meets some serious problems in teaching and learning process. The three problems—the students' low speaking ability, the students' low motivation in learning English, and the teacher's monotonous and inappropriate teaching techniques are very close connected and correlate one another. Referring to the result of the observations, informal interview, test and analysis above, the researcher supposes that the above unsatisfactory proficiency of the students' speaking is not caused mainly by the students' low motivation, high anxiety, or limited vocabulary; rather, the primary cause of their poor skill is the inapt technique the teachers utilize and the inadequate "space" they provide to facilitate students' speaking.

Because the problem in English teaching and learning are very variety, so the teacher are obligated to choose the suitable approach, strategy, and method in order to achieve the teaching purposes easily, and the media will make the students to be more motivated to study. The teacher who is able to present the material easily will be students' idol. The teacher can use some method in teaching learning process to help the students' understanding about the material that was explained. In playing method, the teachers have to prepare many things like; teaching material, classroom management, and many other aspects because using inappropriate strategies can make the students get the difficulties in understanding the teachers' explanation, and it means that the teacher may be failed in teaching them. To make the students have strong interest in teaching and learning process, especially in learning speaking, the teacher should take the best approach, method, strategies. Then, the teacher can use media in teaching of English language, method are used to help the students for speaking to make interaction between the teacher and the students. Furthermore, the teacher has to prepare the interest aids before teaching learning process done. In this case the researcher used guessing games as technique in teaching learning process.

According to Hornby (1995: 486) game is an activity that you do to have some fun. Guessing games can be defined as something or an instrument that is used to attract students' motivation to follow the teaching and learning process because guessing game can make the students more active in learning, and they do not feel that they are forced to learn. Guessing game can be method that will give many advantages for students in classroom.

Method must be able to increase the students' motivation in learning English, especially in speaking English, and method has to be able to manipulate, seeable, listenable, and readable. At least the teacher hopes that method can motivate the students to speak English to communication their need especially in the classroom and their daily need in general.

The researcher includes the related study on guessing games in which has close relationship with this research. A previous research was done by Ni'fatul Aula (2006) in her thesis entitled "Improving students' writing ability of the second grade at SMPI Brebes through guessing games". It was conducted to describe the form of guessing games. This research was designed to improve the students' writing ability in learning to write through a guessing games strategy. This strategy was chosen because it is able to make students actively involved in the process of teaching and learning so as to help improve the writing skills of the students. The other research was written by Muhammad Rizal (2008) in his thesis entitled “Improving Vocabulary’s Student of first grade student of SMP Assuniyah Losari” The approach is based on the Wright’s theory of games for language learning. He applied guessing games to improve vocabulary’s student.

One of the alternative methods used in teaching speaking is guessing games strategy. In which the students are expected to be involved actively in speaking class activity. Guessing games which is adopted from a television and radio game can create the teaching learning situation based on the students’ excitement of playing game. Thus, students are much courage in thinking what they want to say.

Through guessing games, students are provided by set well-arranged activities as follows: an object’s picture is shown to the chairperson. In addition the chairperson tells a clue to the team that the object is household tools, clothes, vehicles or any other stuff. In finding the answer of what the object is, the team should ask yes or no questions to the chairperson, for instance “is it for helping us?” Therefore, the chairperson is allowed only say ‘yes’ or ‘no’. The team will get point if they guess the answer by having twenty questions are more.

There are some tasks that teacher can instruct to the students to do the activities in guessing games. Byrne (1987: 21) says as follows: name of the object, spell the object, say something about the object, give one or more uses for the object, say what they would do with the object if they had it, and make up sentence using the object.

In conducting this kind of game, teacher and students can work each other to build good atmosphere of teaching learning process in class. This strategy requires teacher to facilitate students with some new chunks, it also gives a chairperson an experiences to process his/her peers' speaking in front of class. Meanwhile, for the rest, this game motivates them to make a question with loud or clear voice and the explore some new chunks and language are exposure in one time.
