ABSTRACT

Several factors, including learning, contribute to students' success in developing their writing skills. Every employee has a way of managing their time, especially in the modern era of lightning-fast Internet. Every student makes use of the Internet as a learning resource. The research focuses on comprehending and figuring out how Sumber Daya online might be used as a media tool to enhance English. As indicated earlier, this study will utilize the Borg & Gall research and development (r&d) approach (2003). All aspects of research are gathering basic information about the challenges, conducting a needs assessment, establishing learning methods, developing learning tools, and selecting three vocational Schools to test learning tools. The three processes of using Internet Resources as learning media are during and after post-teaching. According to the researcher, the study discovered several challenges encountered when using Internet Resources as learning media.

Critical World: development, online Resources, English pronunciation.
