Dear Dr. Jaelani,

Thank you for serving as a reviewer on SAGE Open Manuscript ID SO-20-2198 entitled "Systematic Review of Factors affecting the Performance of Islamic Equity Market". I am writing to invite you to serve as Article Editor for this manuscript. Following the peer-review process, SAGE will be happy to offer you 60 days of free access to SAGE journals and a 50% discount off a future Article Processing Charge (APC).

As a reviewer, you have already provided your assessment of the manuscript and now we would like to invite you to serve as an Article Editor, which is a separate role from that of a reviewer. Please note that the manuscript has NOT been sent back to the author for any revisions between when you submitted your review and this invitation. Should you accept our invitation to act as Article Editor, we ask that you assess the comments of all the other reviewers, alongside your own, in order to make a final recommendation to SAGE Open's Editorial Office who will then communicate the final decision to the author.

Please visit <http://sgo.sagepub.com/content/article-editor-quick-guide-0> for more information on what this role includes.

We realize you must have a number of personal and professional priorities at the moment, given the global situation around COVID-19. If you are not able to serve in this role for us at this time or you need additional time to complete this review, please let us know. Your safety and that of your family is our priority during these difficult times.

Please reply to this message to let us know if you will be able to serve in this role. If you are unable to serve as Article Editor on this manuscript, we would appreciate your suggestion of another scholar who may be able. Please reply to this message with your suggestions.

If you accept this invitation, you may locate the article in your Article Editor Center at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/sageopen>.

The significance of the Islamic equities has become eminent especially after the financial crisis of 2008. Past literature has shown that a broad array of work has been done on performance comparisons on shariah and non-shariah stock markets in the empirical context, but qualitative literature is scarce. Aim of this paper is to fulfil this gap by identifying the underlying factors, which induce the performance of shariah stock market. For this study, we have adopted a systematic review approach as none of such study has been taken into account before to investigate the determinants of Islamic equity performance. Research findings have divided into Seven different themes namely economic factors, commodities, geopolitical risk, investor behavior, Seasonality, managerial skills and background, and investment tenure. Our findings have important implications for the investors, financial managers, and academic researchers.

Dear Dr. Jaelani:

Manuscript ID SO-20-2198.R1 entitled "Systematic Review of Factors affecting the Performance of Islamic Equity Market" with Dr. Amir Manzoor as contact author has been assigned to you and is currently sitting in your Article Editor Center at <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/sageopen>. You served as the article editor on the previous version of this paper.

Please take a look at the article by 04-May-2021 and decide if you would like to send it back out for review or make a final decision.

Note: For the first round of review, we secure three sets of reviewer comments, but you are welcome to proceed with whatever number of reviewers you feel is sufficient for the revised manuscript after assessing. (You can change the number of reviews required on the right-hand side of the reviewer selection screen and clicking save.) If you feel no further reviews are required, you can change this number to 0, and it will automatically move the manuscript into the awaiting recommendation stage.

The following link will take you directly to the relevant manuscript page, once you have logged in to the site:
